THE CLAYPOOLE NAME

"The name Claypool is derived from the locality from which the name originated; probably taken from the parish of Claypole, County of Lincoln, England. In ancient English and early American records the name appeared in variant spellings of Claypole, Claypol, Cleypole, Calipole, Cleipoole, with modifications of these but Claypool and Claypoole are the forms in evidence in America." (Media Research Bureau)

ANCESTRAL HOME, NORTHBOROUGH, ENGLAND
 PURCHASED BY JAMES CLAYPOLE, ESQ., 1572
 FOR L5,000

CLAYPOLE MANOR, ANCESTRAL HOME OF THE CLAYPOOLES, is located about 85 miles North of London, just North of Peterborough, Northampton Co., England. "The remains of the manor-house, built by Geoffrey de la Mare 1340, consist chiefly of the ground-floor of the gatehouse and the hall of the house; the hall is now much subdivided, but at the west end three original doorways, with ogee-arched heads enriched with crockets and the ball-flower ornament, remain. It still retains its original crocketed gable, culminating in an octagonal chimney at the west end, and a cornice embellished with the ball-flower. It was here that Cromwell's widow died, as also did Mrs. Cleypole, his favorite daughter, who was buried in Henry VII's chapel at Westminster Abbey. (Cassell's Gazetteer of Great Britain and Ireland, 1897, Vol. N-S, p. 36)

James Cleypole, Esq., who purchased the mansion in 1572, was the great-grandfather of the three Claypoole brothers who came to America in the seventeenth century. His son, Adam Claypole, Esq. married Lady Dorothy, daughter of Sir Robert Wingfield, and his wife, Elizabeth Cecil, sister of Lord Burleigh, Prime Minister of England during the reign of Queen Elizabeth. Adam's son, Sir John Claypole, Knight of Latham, inherited the manor and lands of Norborough, and thirty-two acres, part of Waldram Parks, upon his marriage to Mary (Marie) Angell, daughter of William Angell, Esq. of London. One of their sons, Lord General John Claypole, married Elizabeth Cromwell, daughter of Oliver Cromwell. Three other sons, Edward, Norton and James Claypole, came to America.

TOMB OF JAMES CLAYPOLE, ESQ. (d. 1599)

CHURCH OF ST. ANDREW, NORTHBOROUGH, ENGLAND

In his "Memoirs of the Protectorate House of Cromwell," Mark Noble begins his history of the family of James Claypole, Esq., who was buried at Northborough, Oct. 16, 1599. "To his memory is erected a very magnificent monument in the chancel of that church; the coat of arms appears thrice upon it...but not other inscription than, 'All good blessings unto man, cometh of the free gift of God.' The sentence seems to allude to his gratitude to Providence for his singular good fortune."

"The Church was restored 1893... One tomb, dated 1594, is supposed to be that of Oliver cromwell's widow (d. 1655); there is also an inscribed floor-stone to Martha, daughter of John Cleypole (d. 1663)." (Cassell's Gazetteer of Great Britain and Ireland, 1897, Vol. N-S, p. 36)

"Northborough (St. Andrew) a parish in the soke of Peterborough, County of Northampton, 1 3/4 miles (S.E. by S.) from Market-Deeping, containing 227 inhabitants. The living is a rectory in Archdeaconry of Northampton, and diocese of Peterborough value in the King's Books at 10 pounds 19 shillings 7 pence; present net income 373 pounds. It is in the patronage of the Dean and Chapter of Peterborough. The church has a fine admixture of the Norman and the various later styles of English architecture and contains a monument with other memorials to the family of Claypole, of whom John married Elizabeth, daughter of Oliver cromwell, who created him a baronet in 1657, and made him master of the Horses, and a Lord of the Bedchamber.(taken from Book 22 Topographic Dictionary of England, Lewis Vol. III L-R Public Records Office, Chancery Lane, London WC-2, England.)

INTRODUCTION

All credit for the actual publication of THE CLAYPOOLE FAMILY IN AMERICA must go to Evelyn Claypool Bracken, 1480 Water St., Indiana, Pa. Following publication of her first two volumes, an article appeared in her local newspaper from which the following is essentially taken.

"For the past seven years, Mrs. Perry Bracken has spent every available minute submerged in study to unravel the intricate labyrinth of her Claypool family tree. She has expended thousands of hours digging in the archives of many Pennsylvania County seats and has digested family information from sources in every state. The result of her labors is chronicled on 312 packed pages bound within two volumes that might be considered by many geneologists the definitive work on the Claypool family in America...When Mrs. Bracken says 'It was a long, hard job,' the understatement is obvious.

"She indicates that the work was initiated as a project for the Daughters of the American Revolution in which she set about to trace her earliest male ancestor who fought in the Revolutionary War...But Mrs. Bracken's journey did not end there; for the DAR project had not sparked her interest in the Claypool lineage, it had just rekindled an interest that had been smoldering since childhood...Thus, the seven-year odyssey was launched and continued to progress as Mrs. Bracken made contact with persons throughout the country and exchanged information with more than 200 correspondants accumulating information on nine generations of Claypools.

"For Mrs. Bracken, having received a masters degree in business from Bucknell University and having retired from teaching at Pennsylvania State University and Florida Southern College in 1946, research is not a new experience...By long, intensive searches through deed transfers and death records, newspapers, in esoteric ledgers and journals in libraries and county offices throughout more than 30 states, the labyrinth dissolved and the branches of the family tree grew and burgeoned until more than 4,600 ancestors had been accounted for and recorded...as the Claypools began to emerge as an integrated family, the explorers time and time again discovered Claypool personalities that stand out in Pennsylvania and American history.

'For example, in addition to family father James, whose historic accolades include the fact that his name is the first that appears on the Pennsylvania Charter and that he reportedly was William Penn's best friend, there was David Chambers Claypoole, James' great-grandson and Mrs. Bracken's great-great-great-uncle, who owned the first daily newspaper in America...David Chambers Claypoole, who was the brother of James Jr., the Armstrong County settler, printed the original copies of the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution of the United States and George Washington's Farewell Address, which was given to the printer personally by Washington.

"Another distinguished Claypoole of the past would be James, grandson of the family founder, the earliest native artist of Pennsylvania, whose speciality was portrait painting. He, who is Mrs. Bracken's great-great-great-grandfather, was the father-in-law of artist James Peale...

INTRODUCTION

"Not to be forgotten is the second cousin of Mrs. Bracken's great-great-great-grandfather who had a very intimate relationship with Betsy Ross of Flag-making fame. Far from being the 'black sheep' of the family, second cousin John Claypoole was Betsy's third husband...

"Major collaborators and contributors, as indicated in the prefaces of her volumes, are Wallace Lionel Claypool of Aurora, Ill; Arthur M. Hurst of Chicago, Ill; and Dr. Margaret Claypool Willoughby of Arlington, Texas...

"Also contributing to the rendition of the Claypoole past as an almost living legacy were the journals and personality of her great uncle, Nelson Olin Claypool, who, until his death in 1952, wrote poetry and chronicled salient features of the lives of James Claypoole, Jr. and his descendants..." (By Tim Kinter, Staff Writer, Indiana Evening Gazette, Indiana, Pa.,

History is an account of what has been accomplished by people as a whole, how they met their hardships and problems and their contribution for future generations. Geneological and family histories are in general demand, sought for in libraries across the country and foreign lands.

And why not? In all families, there have been talented and outstanding individuals who helped our ancestors brave the suffering and hardships of the day. There are inspiring records to perpetuate the memory of those to whom honor is due; they tell of people who from humble circumstances have achieved prominence in many phases of endeavor; and they tell of young men whose plans and ambitions were interrupted at their country's call--many not to return, And we are proud of the vast majority whose names do not stand out in history, but only by their courage and devotion has our achievements been accomplished.

Claypools now living and generations of the future will be grateful and indebted to Evelyn and those who have assisted her in making this family history available. She has acknowledged the extensive help from Mr. Arthur Hurst, without which this comprehensive geneology would not have been possible. The collection of this information, arranging the names in the appropriate places has been no easy task--that this has required much time and labor no one can doubt. In view of the magnitude of the work, errors must have crept in, though we hope they are but few, Any additional family information can be referred to her or us for our files in case a revision is made at some future time.

This volume continues with the descendants of immigrant James Claypoole, who came to Philadelphia in 1683, through his son Joseph of Philadelphia and grandson, James Claypoole, III of Virginia. The Claypools in this volume are mainly descendants of James Claypoole, Jr. of Armstrong Co., Pa., a grandson of Joseph; and James, John, and Joseph sons of James Claypool, III of Virginia.

Our sincere thanks to all those who helped in any way.

PERRY AND EVELYN BRACKEN

This volume should not be brought to a close without recognizing the outstanding contribution that has been made by Perry Bracken and Esther (Paulus) Claypool. The Claypools past, present and future, salute the families of Bracken and Paulus.

It is regrettable that more portraits could not have been shown, It would have been interesting if more of us could have met in this way.

ESTHER AND LIONEL CLAYPOOL

MR. HURST'S LETTER

April 1, 1971

Dear Mrs Bracken: -

I have been studying the Claypool Records and I think now that you have been correct and that I was wrong all the time, about James Claypool who was born 1701.

James born 1701, must certainly have been a descendant of James, the immigrant. Len Claypool was a grand son of James (1701) and he wrote that his uncle Joseph died at an early age and left a wife and one son, I thought it strange that Len could have been mistaken about his uncle, but now I see that he was right.

The Joseph of Greenbrier County made a will and signed it Joseph Claypool, Junior. So this Joseph was not a son of James (1701) as I formally thought.

I think that now we are all agreed on these points.

I am writing this so that if it is not too late you can change what I have sent to make it conform to your records.

Maybe this will shorten what you have and give more space to your records in the book

Sincerely

Arthur M. Hurst.

DESCENDANTS OF JAMES CLAYPOOL (b. 1701)
10th Gen.

When I first started to study the Claypool genealogy I took the work of Graff and others as a start, as they appeared to be correct and then continued from them.

I have since found that many of these early records are wrong, so I will try here to correct some of these errors.

Norton Claypool, the immigrant to America had three sons; James, Jeremiah and Robert;. Robert died without any descendants; James had one son, James, who was killed in the Revolutionary War, without any descendants. This is mentioned in a letter from George Washington, so the only descendants of Norton, with the Claypool name were the descendants of Jeremiah. This proved that James born 1701 was a descendant of the Immigrant, James Claypool.

Joseph Claypool, who went to Greenbrier Co.,Va. was always supposed to be a son of James born 1701. This is not true. Joseph son of James born 1701, died at an early age in Augusta Co.V. and never went to Lost River with othersof the family.

The Joseph of Greenbrier Co.Va. must have been a brother of the James Claypool who settled in Armstrong Co.Pa.(Arthur Hurst)

CATHERINE CLAYPOOL *** ELIJAH SMITH

Elijah Smith and Catherine (Claypool) Smith were born in Virginia in 1779. While they were quite young they came with their parents to Kentucky. In 1799 they were married and settled on a farm in Bourbon County Kentucky. They were the parents of twelve children, all of whom lived to have homes and families of their own. In the pioneer days of Kentucky it meant many handicaps and sacrifices to rear a family of twelve children, both to the parents and to the children.

Catherine was of German descent and she and Elijah both belonged to the staunch old family of Virginia from which they inherited the strength of character and high ideals which they moulded in the lives of their children. They resided in Bourbon County until about 1820, they then moved to Harrison County where Margaret and Catherine, the two youngest children were born. After Elijah's death Catherine decided to move to Indiana. Before leaving she had a stone wall built around the grave of her husband, also a stone placed over the top to serve as a cover. No doubt it remains the same after a hundred years.

In 1830 the family moved to Indiana and bought the land in Clinton Township, Decatur County. Catherine lived there until her death in 1864. The land is still owned by the Smith heirs which lies just east of Williamstown. (This and the following material was sent in by Miss Betty Kirby, 712 S. Union St. Kokomo, Ind. 46901)

"BETSY ROSS" CLAYPOOLE

Every school child knows the story of Betsy Ross and the Flag. "She was born Elizabeth Griscom on Jan. 1, 1752 in Philadelphia, Pa., the seventh daughter of Samuel & Rebecca (James) Griscom. Her father was a master-builder and owned a lumber yard at Fourth and Vine Streets, (Philadelphia, Pa.) He was a member and incorporator of the Carpenters Company, owners of Carpenters Hall where the First Continental Congress met...The Griscom family were Quakers and their daughter Betsy was educated in Quaker schools and became noted for her fine needlework." (Dr. Joseph S. Hepburn, The Franklin Institute, Philadelphia, Pa., 1966)

"On Nov. 4, 1773, she married John Ross, an upholsterer and son of (Rev. Aeneas Ross) a minister of Christ Church." Twenty-six months later, "on Jan. 20, 1776, John Ross was killed in an accident while guarding military stores on the waterfront...Their home, a two-story and attic brick house at 239 Arch Street, Philadelphia attained historical significance when George Washington, Robert Morris, and George Ross, uncle of John, came to talk about a flag. The flag the Seamstress Ross made received the formal approval of her country on June 14, 1777 when Congress adopted the Stars and Stripes..." (Chicago Tribune 10/25/1947)

"Betsy stayed on at the upholstery shop, marrying Capt. Joseph Ashburn on 6/15/1777 at 'Old Swedes' Church in Philadelphia. She bore him two children, Zillah, who died in infancy and Eliza...Capt. Ashburn was engaged in the merchant marine service, was captured by the English... (Daily Stories of Pa. by Frederic A. Godcharles, 1924) Waiting to welcome him was his old friend from Philadelphia, John Claypoole, who kept a memorandum book in which he told of his confinement in prison, etc. Among other things, he recorded the death of Capt. Ashburn: "In the night of the 3rd of March (1782), Mr. Joseph Ashburn departed this life after an illness of about a week which he bore with amazing fortitude & resignation..."

"..There is so strict a guard kept over us..I do not see any likelihood of our being exchanged, and it seems impossible to get out of this place without the wretched alternative of entering into their Infernal service. We have sent several petitions to the King of France, setting forth in moving terms our deplorable situation humbly praying his most christian Majesty to fall upon some method to get us relief, but I fear the British parliament are such a still-necked set of beings that they will not consent to let us go.."One of his letters closed with the words:"That you may enjoy many years of happiness, and never know what it is to lose your liberty.." (Memorandum Book of John Claypoole, Pa. Magazine: Vol. pp.179-190)"

Upon his release from prison and return to Philadelphia, it was the sad duty of John Claypoole to deliver the personal effects and farewell message of Captin Joseph Ashburn to his widow. About a year later, on M May 8, 1783, John Claypoole and Elizabeth Ashburn were married. By this marriage, five daughters were born: Clarissa, Rachel, Susan, Jane & Harriet, who died in infancy. John Claypoole, who had never fully recovered from the wounds he suffered at Germantown died 8/3/1810 in Philadelphia, Pa. He wrote many letters and some poetry which is preserved by the Historical Society of Pa. (THE CLAYPOOLE FAMILY IN AMERICA; Vol. I, p. 27)

Betsy continued her 50-year career as the nation's flag maker, until 1833, when she lost her sight. She died 1/26/1936. "She was beautiful even in her old age, her grand-niece recalled and her "soul adorned with Christian graces." the business of flag-making as established by Betsy Ross, was continued by her and her immediate family...until 1857" when her daughter, Mrs. Clarissa (Claypoole)Wilson removed to Ft. Madison, Ia. where she died July 10, 1864." (George Canby, a grandson.) Rachel (Albright) Buehler, a g. g. granddaughter of Eldon, Mo. writes that her grandmother grew up in Betsy's home and she has heard the story of the Flag many times. She owns the teapot which belonged to Betsy Ross Claypoole. In 1952 a stamp was issued to commemorate the 200th Anniversary of the Birthday of Betsy Ross, and the Flag House is now a National Shrine.

A SONG OF OUR FLAG

"All lovers of freedom give heed to my story;
The fame of our banner I fain would relate.
Of that glorious emblem, our beloved "Old Glory;"
In battles triumphant, in peace more than great.

Then long may you wave o'er this land of the free;
By her daughters and sons held in high veneration.
In peace and in war--O, long may you be
The pride and defense of our glorious nation.

A world bows to thee as a fitting oblation;
Thy fame and renown shall forever remain.
Thou star-spangled banner, the gem of creation--
May thee, in all ages this glory retain.

---Nelson Olin Claypool, Oct. 25, 1908
Dedicated to Theodore Roosevelt.

AN AMERICAN ANTHEM

"Let Tyrants shake their Iron Rod
And Slavery clank her galling chains
We fear them not we trust in God
New Englands God forever Reigns.

When God inspired us for the fight
Their ranks were broke their lives were Forsd,
Their ships were scattered in our sight
Or swiftly driven from our coast.

What grateful offerings should we bring
What shall we render to the Lord
Loud Hallalujahs let us sing
And Praise his Name on Every Chord."

---John Claypool's Memorandum-Book
Pa. Magazine: Vol. 16, pp. 181, 182

THE HEAVENLY VISION

"I journeyed away in the vistas of space,
While my head on it's pillow reclined;
I visioned the beauty of God's holy place,
And my soul by his love was entwined.

The glories of Paradise came to my view,
Where the glory of God shone so bright;
The wonders were greater than man ever knew--
Lo' the Angels of Heaven in Flight.

His table abounded with life-giving meats,
The air was surcharged with delight;
Beyond all conception were heavenly sweets,
With no sorrows of world-life to blight.

The glories of heaven, no pen can portray,
And no tongue, can it's beauties express;
Where God's little children are ever at play--
And the name of their Saviour confess.

The sound of the harpers in cadence abound,
And the songs of the ransomed are sweet;
The saints in their glory are gathered around--
Singing praise at their dear Masters feet.

And lo, in my vision a voice seemed to breathe,
Proclaim this glad tiding to men;
Salvation is given to all who believe--
If they worship the true God again.
